BROWN UNIVERSITY CAMPUS

Here under the elms of Brown University campus the Convention meetings will be held. In the foreground is University Hall, where our French allies under Lafayette, in the Revolutionary War, were quartered, and where George Washington received his "LL.D."

The Campus of historic old Brown University will be the center of most of the Conference activities during the week of the Annual Meeting. Rockefeller Hall will be used as the place of registration for Conference delegates and there will also be accommodations there for desk reservations for representatives of the different divisions of the Conference and of kindred groups. Sayles Hall will be used as one of the meeting places; Pembroke College Chapel will house other meetings of the Conference. The University Quadrangle will be the place where the general sessions will be held in the open air. Lyman Gymnasium will be used for purposes of exhibits. In addition to these buildings there are a number of smaller halls and classrooms which will be used as meeting places for smaller groups.

The First Baptist Church and the First Congregational Church are both within an easy five-minute walk of the University. Grace Episcopal Church and Mathewson Street Methodist Church are also within easy walking distance of Brown University Campus. In this respect the physical facilities afforded by Providence are of an exceptionally satisfying nature because all meeting places of the Conference are within easy reach of one another. The University itself, situated on the top of a hill, with its old historic buildings shaded by great trees is a spot of unusual and unique charm and restfulness.

HOTEL ARRANGEMENTS

The Providence Committee on Arrangements for the next annual meeting of the National Conference requests that those who are planning to attend and who desire hotel accommodations write as soon as possible for their hotel reservations to Mr. Arthur L. Aldred, 218 Hospital Trust Bldg., Providence, Rhode Island.

Realizing that the very large attendance at an annual meeting of the Conference will necessitate accommodations in addition to those afforded by the hotels of the city, the Committee will make arrangements for the housing of delegates in private homes and boarding houses. Providence will be able to take care of all those who attend the annual meeting, but a great deal of inconvenience to the delegates can be avoided by the early reservation on the part of those who will be in attendance at the Conference.

Those desiring accommodations in private homes and boarding houses, as well as those wishing to make reservations in hotels, will simplify the work of the Committee on Arrangements by writing at as early a date as possible and requesting that reservations of a specified kind be made for them.

INVITATIONS

The Connecticut State School for Girls is within easy reaching distance of Providence, and will be very glad to entertain Superintendents of Institutions or members of Institution Boards of Management who may be in attendance at the annual meeting of the National Conference of Social Work. A cordial invitation is also extended to any visitors who may be interested in this special line of work.

The Board of Trustees of the State Sanatorium for Tuberculosis has extended a cordial invitation to the members of the National Conference of Social Work to visit Wallum Lake during the annual meeting of the Conference.

FIRST BAPTIST MEETING HOUSE

Recognized as one of the finest examples of colonial architecture in America, was founded by Roger Williams. Its bell, made in London, 1775, bears the inscription, "This church was formed A. D. 1639, the first in the state and the eldest of the Baptists in America." The present edifice was erected in 1775, "For the worship of God and to hold Commencements in." Brown University Commencements have been held in this building since Revolutionary days. Nine o'clock still hears the toll of the curfew bell.

PENDLETON HOUSE—SHOWING LOWER HALLWAY

The Pendleton House contains a world-famous collection of antique mahogany furniture, rugs, mirrors, porcelains, china and silver. A typical colonial house, pure Georgian in style, was erected to hold these treasures. The impression received is not that of a museum and collection, but rather the impression of a private mansion belonging to a gentleman of taste and wealth who lived in the eighteenth century.

This building, Grecian Doric in style, encloses within the sternness of its granite walls, an interior, that in genuine library charm, is without a superior in America.

INTERIOR VIEW OF THE ATHENAEUM

These alcoves bear silent witness to the literary romance between Edgar Allan Poe and Sara Helen Whitman. The Athenaeum contains over 70,000 volumes and is especially rich in rare books upon art and bound files of periodicals. REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE

It had been the intention of the Finance Committee to prepare a report to appear in this issue of the BULLETIN concerning the results attained by those who made pledges at Milwaukee to secure institutional memberships for the National Conference. The Committee has decided, however, to defer such report until the annual meeting of the Conference in Providence. The reason for this decision is that numbers of those who have made such pledges have up to the present time been unable to fulfill them but are actively engaged in an attempt to secure such institutional memberships and assure the Committee that they have every reason to believe that these memberships will be secured before the next annual meeting.

MEETING PLACE FOR 1923

The Committee on Time and Place of the Conference will be pleased to receive invitations for the entertainment of the organization at its annual meeting in 1923. A description of the customary local arrangements for the meeting and other preliminary information which might be of value to cities wishing to have the Conference meet with them next year can be secured from the Conference office in Cincinnati. Wherever the Conference goes, it is generally recognized that the meeting will result in a stimulation of the social thought and an added interest in local welfare activities.

Members and committees interested in securing the next annual meeting of the National Conference should correspond with the Chairman of the Committee on Time and Place,

MR. AMOS W. BUTLER,
404 State House, Indianapolis, Indiana.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF SOCIAL WORKERS

The American Association of Social Workers, 130 East Twenty-second Street, New York, is planning two meetings at Providence on professional organization and status. Both will be held in the famous First Baptist Church, founded by Roger Williams, and one of the historic landmarks of Providence. Its location at the foot of College Hill, half way between the new Providence Biltmore Hotel and the Brown University Campus, where many of the meetings will be held, should prove one of the most convenient in Providence.

The first meeting will be held on Friday afternoon, June 23, the first day of the Conference. Outstanding representatives of other professions, who have understanding and appreciation of social work, will be invited to discuss broadly the development and meaning of professional spirit, organization, standards and ethics. Professional development of social work will then be discussed by one or more social workers.

The Association's annual meeting will be held on Wednesday afternoon, June 28, the next to the last day of the Conference. Since the Milwaukee meeting much headway has been made, especially in the wide-spread consideration of a draft of professional standards for membership. Copies of this draft which represents the first efforts of social workers themselves to establish basic qualifications for their profession can now be secured from the office of the Association.

Decision on this question will thus be one of the of the most important matters to be decided at this meeting. Officers and one-third of the Central Council of the Association are also to be elected.

The development of social work into a profession is a topic which is arousing great interest and it is expected that the general meeting on June 26 will draw a large general attendance. The annual meeting of the Association will take action on such vital steps in this development that all professional social workers are urged to join the Association and thus become qualified to vote at this meeting. Headquarters where members of the Staff and Executive Committee can be found daily during Conference Week will be established at the beginning of the Conference at the most convenient place possible. The present officers are: Owen R. Lovejoy, President; Clare M. Tousley, First Vice-President; Gertrude Vaile, Second Vice-President; Rose J. McHugh, Third Vice-President; J. B. Buell, Secretary; W. W. Norton, Treasurer; Graham Romeyn Taylor, Executive Secretary.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF TRAVELERS' AID SOCIETIES

There will be morning and afternoon sessions June 21 and 22, which will be held at the Parish House of Grace Church, on Mathewson Street. By vote of the Executive Committee the annual meeting of the Association, made up of delegates from the local Travelers' Aid Societies members of the Association, will not be held until some time in the Fall, at a time and place to be designated later.

NATIONAL PROBATION ASSOCIATION

The Fifteenth Annual Conference of the Association will open on Tuesday evening, June 20, in the Ball Room of the Providence-Biltmore, the headquarters for the Conference. Sessions will be held all day Wednesday and Thursday morning and afternoon, just preceding the opening of the National Conference of Social Work. The Conference, which has been growing in importance and value each year, will undoubtedly be more largely attended than any of its predecessors.

Probation and social organization of the courts are advancing all over the country. The number of probation officers is increasing. There are at least two thousand paid officers now at work in the United States. Not only juvenile court judges but all judges dealing with delinquency and family maladjustments are becoming increasingly interested in the social aspects of their work. Interest in the so-called "crime wave" makes it of more importance that the disciplinary as well as the reformatory and preventive aspects of the probation service be examined. Finally, the proximity of Providence to Massachusetts, pioneer in probation work, to New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and other states where the system is most widely extended, assures a large and interesting gathering.

Probation officers, judges, lawyers, members of protective and all other organizations interested in the treatment of delinquency are especially invited to attend these meetings. Special features this year are as follows: The morning sessions on Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to group discussions. "Probation for Delinquent Girls," "Juvenile Courts," "Rural Probation," "Family and Domestic Relations," "Probation Education and Extension" are some of the topics to be discussed. Reports of special committees that have been at work during the past year will be heard.

The meetings on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings will be devoted to addresses by very representative speakers. On Wednesday afternoon there will be a joint session with the Federal Children's Bureau under the direction of the Committee on Juvenile Court Standards. This committee grew out of the joint meetings of the Children's Bureau and the Association at Milwaukee last year. A complete report will be presented this year covering the entire organization and work of juvenile courts.

The usual annual luncheon will be held Thursday noon with distinguished speakers. A local committee of which Richard P. Comstock, one of the leading attorneys of Providence, is chairman, is arranging social and other features.

During the conference week following, joint sessions of the Association with two or more divisions of the National Conference of Social Work are being arranged. No probation officer, judge or other person interested in the social work of the courts, who can possibly get to Providence for these meetings, should fail to attend.

Full information regarding hotel reservations, railroad rates and other details of the Conference may be secured from Charles L. Chute, General Secretary, National Probation Association, 370 Seventh Avenue, New York City.

SOCIAL SERVICE WORKERS OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The second National Conference of the Social Service Workers of the Episcopal Church will be held at Wickford, about twenty miles from Providence, R. I., on Narragansett Bay, June 19-22. The Conference will open on Monday afternoon, June 19, at three o'clock, with a reception. The first regular meeting will be held in the Town Hall, in the evening at eight o'clock. There will be addresses of welcome by Bishop Gailor, President of the Council, Bishop Perry of Rhode Island, and by Mr. Robert W. Kelso. The paper of the evening will be a report on "Minimum Standards for Church Institutions," by Dean White, of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin.

Tuesday morning there will be an address by Mrs. John M. Glenn, on the subject, "What is the Plus that the Church has to Add to Secular Social Service?" and addresses in connection with "Rural Work", by Reverend F. D. Goodwin, Reverend C. W. Whitmore, and a representative of the Department of Agriculture.

Wednesday morning at seven-thirty, there will be a Corporate Communion, with Bishop Manning, of New York, celebrant. Later the policy and program of the Department of Christian Social Service will be discussed, and in the afternoon will come up the question, "What Contribution has the Church to Make to the Problems Modern Industry Presents?" In the evening there will be a model Discussion Group led by T. H. P. Sailer, Ph.D.

Thursday morning there will be reports from all the national church societies. The meeting will then adjourn for the delegates to be in Providence at the opening meeting of the National Conference of Social Work.

A hotel has been taken for the Church Conference at Wickford. Rates will be $10.00 each for the three days beginning with the afternoon of June 19 and ending with the afternoon of June 22. Everyone who plans to attend should inform Reverend Charles N. Lathrop, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York City, in order that reservations may be made. A deposit of $5.00 is asked with each request for a reservation. This will be returned if reservation is withdrawn before June 10.

THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF VISITING TEACHERS AND HOME AND SCHOOL VISITORS

The National Association of Visiting Teachers, organized during the National Conference of Social Work's annual meeting in 1919, holds its annual meetings in connection with either the National Conference of Social Work or the National Education Association. This year meetings will be held in connection with both conferences. On June 24, at Providence, the visiting teachers and others interested in the work will assemble at a luncheon, the place of which is to be announced later. Following the luncheon, Barry C. Smith, General Director of the Commonwealth Fund of New York, will deliver an address on "Extension of Visiting Teacher Work in the United States."

For sixteen years visiting teachers have been "humanizing" education. It was about 1906 that visiting teachers began to carry the interests of the schools into the homes of the children, especially of those children who were "difficult" or "different". These visiting teachers brought both teaching experience and knowledge of social work to bear upon the problems of home life, heredity, and the out-of-school influences, interests, and occupations of these children; and upon the adjustment of these to their school and social development. Many a youth can point back to a dark period in his life when everything seemed to be "agin" him—in school and at home—and the visiting teacher understood and smoothed it all out.

Gradually some thirty or forty cities and communities—the list is growing—have organized the work to bring about these adjustments of individual children. The significance and advantage of the visiting teacher's position within the school, where she receives the cases of maladjustment early in the child's career, and hence is able to prevent anti-social or unsocial development, retardation in school work, and habits which forebode delinquency, were brought out strongly at the conference at Milwaukee last year.

"The Visiting Teacher in the United States," a report of the survey recently conducted by the National Association of Visiting Teachers gives a detailed account of the work. Within the past few months the Commonwealth Fund of New York has interested itself in developing the work in new centers, and devoted a large sum of money for the purpose. Mr. Smith will tell us about the plans at the Conference on June 24.

PRELIMINARY REPORT OF NOMINATING COMMITTEE

I submit the following as a preliminary report of the Committee on Nominations. I have consulted with Mr. Kelso, the President of the Conference, and he supports me in offering this report, inconclusive as it is, as the utmost that can be expected of the committee under the existing conditions up to the time that the Conference meets in Providence. While it is a variation from the strict requirements of the By-laws, it is made necessary by a situation that is beyond possibility of a more definite action.

The selection of candidates for the offices to be filled by election at the annual meeting of the National Conference of Social Work, to be held in Providence in June, has been given careful consideration by the members of the Nominating Committee, but up to the present time without reaching a majority opinion in favor of any of the persons proposed for the various offices.

The Committee is in receipt of a large number of suggestions from members of the Conference in the form provided in the BULLETIN or in the way of letters giving personal endorsement.

The following members of the Conference have been endorsed for President by varying numbers of members: Miss Mary E. Richmond, Miss Jane Addams, Sherman Kingsley, Homer Folks, Mrs. Martha P. Falconer, James F. Jackson. Other persons have been favored by smaller numbers of members.

For the offices of First and Second Vice-Presidents and for membership in the Executive Committee, to which five members will be elected, there have been numerous suggestions but none of them in any considerable number for any one person.

The members of the Nominating Committee have expressed their personal choices, but without a majority opinion being indicated for any one office.

Because of this situation making impossible a report of nominations at this time, the committee is compelled to defer nominations until the meeting of the Conference, unless there shall meanwhile be reached an agreement among majority of its members which would make possible announcement of its conclusions in some other way than through the BULLETIN of the Conference.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) HERBERT C. PARSONS,
Chairman Nominating Committee.
